News from our classes

Our Competition Choir are hard at work, putting the finishing touches to the two songs they've chosen to perform at our heat for 'Last Choir Singing'. The costumes arrived this week so everyone is very excited. I hope all the parents and carers who wanted tickets have been able to get them—please let us know if you've had problems.

Grizedale Class has had a make-over this week—which has included plants, candles and sparkly stars. Miss. Taylor is hoping the cosy atmosphere will help everyone feel even more calm and focussed—look out for a video on Facebook next week!

Bowland This week Bowland Class have learnt all about our world. EYFS talked about places that they had visited and how they had travelled there. Y1 and Y2 remembered about the UK and continents of the world before finding out about Nairobi in Kenya. Do you know that they have a Clock Tower just like Big Ben and the savannah is on the outskirts of Nairobi? The children chose how to showcase their learning as resourceful raccoons through mixed media collages, 3D creations and moving sculptures. The children even created songs on our outdoor stage! We are so excited to find out more!

Grizedale In Science this week, we showcased our learning for our Living Things and Their Habitats unit by creating a double-page spread in the style of a Science Magazine. In Music this week, we have been mastering the E and F notes to help us learn to play the song Lean on Me on our recorders. We also have chunked the song into its verses and chorus to learn the lyrics. In History this week we have taken part in a reconstruction relay of the excavation of Sutton Hoo! What a busy week!

Nicky Nook This week we have worked as designers to complete our free standing structures that use joining techniques for reinforcement. We are learning how to use dialogue to advance the action when we write narratives. We have created a toolkit and have identified the techniques used by published authors. Our Playground Pals have been incredible this week. It was lovely to see them helping other children to learn new games.

Lead Learners

Bowland- Cora's joy for learning is infectious—she inspires us all with her enthusiasm and talent for all things creative, reading and acting with intonation, wonderful use of adjectives/ adverbs when talking and writing and even improving her handwriting too! Her independent problem solving in Maths has been SUPER accurate this week too. What a shining star!

Grizedale- Star of the week this week is Evie. Evie has produced an amazing Science magazine to revisit and showcase her learning. As well as this, her presentation, attention to detail and effort is always outstanding and she sets a brilliant example for the other children.

Nicky Nook—Matilda G has incredible behaviour for learning. She always works with a smile and is eager to share her knowledge. Well done Matilda!
